NOVEMBER 17TH-18TH, 2017

SALA IPOGEA, AUDITORIUM PAGANINI
PARMA, ITALY

Premature birth is currently amongst the first causes of perinatal mortality and childhood disability. Even if the remarkable advances in the last decades in neonatological care have allowed an important improvement in survival at very early gestational ages and among babies weighing less than 1000g, the number of unresolved neurological sequelae and clinical outcomes is still high. This situation significantly affects the lives of families who have had a severely preterm infant, considering also the cost involved for neonatal and pediatric care. From an obstetrical point of view, the ability to intercept pregnant women at high risk of premature delivery has improved, but our ability to handle such cases, to establish effective preventive strategies or to launch targeted treatments to delay the delivery or to prolong the gestation as long as possible is still suboptimal.

Among the main problems we certainly include premature birth prevention in an increasing number of multiple pregnancies and treatment of patients with premature membrane rupture well before the due date. In these cases patient surveillance protocols are still lacking due to the poor understanding of the pathophysiology of adverse pregnancy outcomes affecting the mother and the fetus.

The idea for this conference came from this awareness. Bringing together many international experts to see where we stand on a consolidated knowledge and to discuss the most promising research lines in obstetrical strategies for managing early delivery. The ultimate goal is to be able to contribute progressively and effectively to the global population health and well-being, a commonly shared and ambitious goal that starts at birth and that can only be achieved through scientific evolution and the foundations generously supporting it.

Chairpersons: E. Ferrazzi (Milan, I)
W. Grobman (Chicago, USA)

- 12.00 p.m. A. Conde Agudelo (Detroit, USA)
Update on vaginal progesterone for preventing preterm birth in singleton and twin pregnancies
- 12.30 p.m. J. O'Brien (Lexington, KY)
Why progesterone should be useful, hypothesis on mechanism of action
- 13.00 p.m. Open Discussion with Opinion Leaders
- 13.30 p.m. Lunch

Session III - Prevention of preterm birth: surgical treatment

Chairpersons:

V. Berghella (Philadelphia, USA)
A. Conde Agudelo (Detroit, USA)

- 14.30 p.m. J. Thornton (Nottingham, UK)
Tocolysis for preterm labor without premature rupture of membranes
- 15.00 p.m. W. Grobman (Chicago, USA)
Arabin pessary or Cervical cerclage in singleton: a stitch in time or a waste of time
- 15.30 p.m. T. Frusca (Parma, I)
Cervical cerclage in twins: is there a role?
- 16.00 p.m. V. Berghella (Philadelphia, USA)
Technique of cerclage: vaginal vs laparoscopic? Which threads?
- 16.30 p.m. A. Locatelli (Milan, I)
Over treatment or under treatment of preterm labour: the role of cervical length vs quantitative fibronectin
- 17.00 p.m. Open Discussion with Opinion Leaders
- 17.30 p.m. Welcome Cocktail

Saturday, November 18th, 2017

Session IV - Managing specific critical situations

Chairpersons:

T. Todros (Turin, I)
G. Visser (Utrecht, NL)

- 08.30 a.m. V. Berghella (Philadelphia, USA)
The management of patients after threatened preterm labor: Is there a role for a maintenance therapy?
- 09.00 a.m. K.O. Kagan (Tuebingen, D)
Clinical management in pregnancy with early pPROM (22-34 wks): How to monitor? When to delivery?
- 09.30 a.m. J. Thornton (Nottingham, UK)
Clinical management in pregnancy with late pPROM (34-37 wks): How to monitor? When to delivery?
- 10.00 a.m. P. R. Bennett (London, UK)
The interaction between vaginal microbiota and the preterm birth risk
- 10.30 a.m. Open Discussion with Opinion Leaders
- 11.00 a.m. Coffee Break

Session V - What's new in drug therapy?

Chairpersons:	D. Arduini (Rome, I) G. Visser (Utrecht, NL)
11.30 a.m.	V. Fanos (Cagliari, I) New insights in the pathophysiology of preterm birth and prematurity: the role of Metabolomics
12.00 p.m.	G. Visser (Utrecht, NL) Steroids in women at risk for preterm birth: the good, the bad, the unknown
12.30 p.m.	P. Vergani (Monza, I) Magnesium sulfate for neuroprotection
13.00 p.m.	Open Discussion with Opinion Leaders
13.30 p.m.	Lunch

Session VI - Preterm birth: mode of delivery and perinatal outcomes

Chairpersons:	I. Cetin (Milan, I) P. Vergani (Monza, I)
14.30 p.m.	T. Ghi (Parma, I) How to deliver the preterm neonate: vaginal vs cesarean delivery? Low transverse vs vertical CD?
15.00 p.m.	E. Ferrazzi (Milan, I) Is umbilical cord milking in preterm birth a good option?
15.30 p.m.	M. Di Tommaso (Florence, I) Umbilical cord clamping and cord milking: italian experience

EACCME

The INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM ON PRETERM BIRTH PREVENTION AND TREATMENT, Parma, Italy, 17/11/2017-18/11/2017 has been accredited by the European Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (EACCME®) with 13 European CME credits (ECMEC®s). Each medical specialist should claim only those hours of credit that he/she actually spent in the educational activity.

Through an agreement between the Union Européenne des Médecins Spécialistes and the American Medical Association, physicians may convert EACCME® credits to an equivalent number of AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Information on the process to convert EACCME® credit to AMA credit can be found at www.ama-assn.org/go/internationalcme.

Live educational activities, occurring outside of Canada, recognised by the UEMS-EACCME® for ECMEC®s are deemed to be Accredited Group Learning Activities (Section 1) as defined by the Maintenance of Certification Program of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada.
